Laser Spine Institute Tampa Director Named Orthopedic Certified Specialist
Irene Barlow Rademeyer Awarded Certification For Third Time

TAMPA, FLA. – Bill Horne, CEO of Laser Spine Institute (<http://www.laserspineinstitute.com>), the leader in minimally invasive spine surgery, has announced that Irene Barlow Rademeyer, director of physical therapy and functional rehabilitation, has received her Orthopedic Certified Specialist accreditation. The American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties certifies individuals who demonstrate advanced clinical knowledge and skills in the field of physical therapy.

Rademeyer, a 30-year veteran of spinal care and rehabilitation, graduated from college in South Africa and immigrated to the United States in 1986 to dedicate herself to the field of physical therapy. As a director at LSI, she has introduced a higher level of care in the form of individualized functional rehabilitation for patients at the facility.

QUOTES:

“We are pleased that Irene has been awarded this accreditation for the third time,” said Horne. “She is an integral part of our team and is extremely dedicated to providing the best possible service to our patients.”
